3 Satellites Drilled into Orbits

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two SENTRY satellites and a tiny Pygmy satellite vaulted skyward today in a step toward development of a system to detect secret nuclear explosions anywhere from the surface of the earth to 200 million miles in space.

The launch had been scheduled Monday but delayed by mechanical troubles.

The trio of radiation-sensing payloads rode atop an Atlas-Agena rocket which blazed brilliantly into the early morning darkness at 3:27 a.m.

The Air Force said the three satellites had been drilled into separate egg-shaped orbits within 10 minutes.

Preliminary orbital figures showed the satellites were higher than planned, but the Air Force said it still was pleased. It said the satellites went into a highly elliptical orbit ranging from 132 miles to 69,570 miles from the earth. The planned orbit was from 121 miles to 63,250 miles.

The Pygmy satellite was to remain in the elliptical path.

But the twin Sentries were to be jockeyed at high altitude outposts to reinforce America's space patrol in policing the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

Within seconds after the Atlas-Agena blasted off, a smaller rocket, launched from the cape, darted skyward to study the Atlas-Agena's exhaust.

Because of a complex flight now intended to station the twin satellites at the high point of the orbit, Air Force officials said they wouldn't know until about 10:00 a.m. Thursday whether the mission was completely successful.

The nuclear detection satellites, each weighing 524 pounds, were to join four others already patrolling the skies. They were launched in pairs in 1963 and 1964.

The earlier satellites have instruments which peer millions of miles into space. The two launched today had similar equipment and also packed optical sensors designed to detect an explosion on the surface of the earth or elsewhere in the atmosphere.

The 12-pound Pygmy satellite, which rode along as a hitchhiker, was to aid the study by measuring radiation in the Van Allen Belt which girdles the earth out to a distance of 40,000 miles.

Supreme Court Justice Given Adlai's Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson named Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg today to be the new U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

In a quickly arranged ceremony in the White House rose garden, the President, with Goldberg at his side, named his choice to succeed the late Adlai E. Stevenson.

Goldberg said the message of Adlai Stevenson to the world must continue — man's ancient supplication to "grant us peace."

And he promised to attempt to bring "the rule of law to relations between the various nations — it is that or doom and we all know that," Goldberg said.

The new U.N. ambassador will be 57 next month.

Congressional informants said Monday Johnson might offer the U.N. post to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and they thought Rusk might be receptive.

Some of the talk revolved around the idea of shifting Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to the State Department.

Goldberg was the late President Kennedy's first appointment to the Supreme Court. Before that he served in the Cabinet as secretary of labor, after a long career as a labor lawyer.

Other names had flitted about in speculation on a successor to Stevenson, who died of a heart attack on a London street last Wednesday and was buried Monday in Bloomington, Ill.

Goldberg and his wife both traveled with the Johnsons to and from Stevenson's funeral.

Johnson said it was at his insistence that Goldberg had agreed to leave a lifetime job on the nation's highest court and step into the field of international diplomacy and negotiation.

Lake Stevenson, Goldberg comes from Illinois. He is a native of Chicago.

Johnson called Goldberg a man of courage, conviction and humanitarianism.

"Always," Johnson said, "we strive for a world where all men live in peace under a rule of justice under law. It is fitting that we should ask a member of the

Rights Forces Planning Tests In Bogalusa

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Civil rights forces step up public accommodation tests, picketing and a march today following Justice Department action with suits to halt police officials and the Ku Klux Klan from interfering with demonstrators.

A. Z. Young, president of the Bogalusa Voters League, told a rally Monday night of the plans for wide-scale public accommodation tests and demonstrations.

He said that Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. John Doar, on a peace-making mission to the racially torn town, "had brought something to town that we had lost."

Young said, "We had lost confidence in the federal government the FBI."

"At one time, we thought anything could be solved by the FBI. But these Kluxers in Bogalusa were so strong that they had the FBI eating out of their hands."

Young did not elaborate after making the comment at the mass rally.

McNamara Says Viet Nam Situation 'Deteriorated'

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today the Vietnamese situation has deteriorated in many aspects in the last 15 months, but the picture is not all black. Then he headed home from his five-day survey to report to President Johnson.

McNamara said nothing in a news conference statement about expectations that this report will form the basis for a sizable increase in U.S. military strength in Viet Nam.

An apparent attempt to assassinate U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, a savage battle at a garrison post near the Cambodian frontier and a second Viet Cong attack on the U.S. 1st Infantry Division's 2nd Brigade at Bien Hoa were among highlights of the day.

Four suspects, including two boys, were reported arrested after discovery and disarming of a claymore bomb planted at the entrance of a stadium where Taylor and senior Vietnamese officials were attending a Unity Day celebration.

"The over-all situation continues to be serious," McNamara told a news conference before flying back to Washington.

He cited increased Viet Cong concentrations, the rate and intensity of enemy operations, the disruption of communications throughout the country and an intensification of terrorist activity.

"But the situation is not all black," said the secretary. The Vietnamese people are continuing to fight, he went on, the Viet Cong is suffering increasing losses, and U.S. combat forces have "added substantially" to Vietnamese fighting strength.

McNamara said he would recommend to President Johnson that the United States "fulfill the commitment of our nation to defend Viet Nam." He declined to elaborate, but during his visit both U.S. and South Vietnamese officials here recommended that U.S. troops in the country be increased.

On the battlefield, an outnumbered Vietnamese special forces garrison fought off a powerful Viet Cong attack in a "valiant stand" early today but suffered "an awful lot of casualties," a U.S. spokesman reported. He said Americans were among the dead.

Six U.S. special forces advisers and 200 Vietnamese made up the garrison, at Bu Dop, due north of Saigon and five miles from the Cambodian border.

The Viet Cong repeatedly assaulted the camp, the spokesman said, but did not penetrate far into it.

The Viet Cong also hit the 1st Division's 2nd Brigade near Bien Hoa early today with mortar and small arms fire for the second day in a row. U.S. casualties were described as light. Three Americans were killed by a Viet Cong attack on the unit Monday.

Shakespeare Said Ahead Of Doctors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forsooth! Was William Shakespeare practicing medicine without a license?

Whether proof of that question is to be or not to be, a Washington doctor — focusing a professional eye on Shakespeare's plays — today came up with this diagnosis:

That the Bard of Avon had enough knowledge of medicine to rate hanging out his shingle as an Elizabethan M.D.

Verily, quoth Dr. Samuel M. Dodek, the great Shakespeare was years — nay, even centuries — ahead of the practicing medics in his seeming knowledge of some aspects of human physiology.

Take the great discovery of the circulation of the blood — generally credited to Sir William Harvey who first spoke of it in 1619.

In effect, Shakespeare scooped Harvey on this one by having one of his characters say in the first act of "Hamlet," written 16 years previously:

"... holds such an enmity with blood of man
That swift as quicksilver it courses through
The natural gates and alleys of the body..."

6 Navy Vessels Are Demothballed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Navy has disclosed that six "mothballed" vessels — including four rocket-launching ships — are being reactivated for active duty in the Pacific.

The hospital ship, Repose, and two rocket vessels are being readied at the Hunters Point Naval Shipyard in San Francisco, a naval public information officer said Monday. Two other rocket ships are being refurbished at Long Beach, Calif.

In Philadelphia, Pa., a spokesman said the Navy had reactivated the USS Kula Gulf, a 15,000-ton escort carrier.

38 Grandchildren Given Insurance

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — In one of the most unusual life insurance transactions ever reported, 38 grandchildren of a prominent Toledo area couple have received policies worth a potential $4 million.

The policies are issued in the original amount of $15,000 each, but each child is guaranteed up to $90,000 additional life insurance without medical examination at any time in the future.

The transaction is described by the agent who sold it as bigger than many employee group insurance plans.

The children, aged 10 months to 15 years, all are equal partners with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anderson, and six sets of parents in the thriving Anderson grain business in nearby Maumee.

Senate OKs New GI Bill

House Is Handed Aid Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed an administration-opposed "cold war" GI Bill of Rights measure. The issue of educational allowances and home loan benefits for post-Korean veterans now is up to the House.

The Senate rejected Monday Republican proposals to restrict the aid to veterans of combat zone service and then passed the bill, 69 to 17. The House failed to act on a similar Senate measure in 1959, but Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., told reporters Chairman Oline E. Teague, D-Tex., of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, has announced plans to hold early hearings on the new bill.

The bill covers all veterans serving from Jan. 31, 1965 — the declared termination date for establishing eligibility under the previous Korean GI Bill — to July 1, 1967, the termination date of the compulsory draft law recently extended by Congress.

Eligibility for education allowances, $110 a month for bachelors, $135 for veterans with one dependent and $160 a month for veterans with more than one dependent, would be conditioned on more than 180 days of active duty or discharge for service-connected disability.

The same eligibility would apply for applicants for loans and guarantees for the purchase of homes and livestock. If a serviceman dies from service-connected disabilities, his widow could apply for such loans and guarantees.

The education allowance would provide 1½ days of school aid for each day of active service, but with an over-all limit of 36 months.

The loan features would not provide aid in starting businesses — except for the help in acquiring farms and livestock — as did the earlier GI bills.

The government would guarantee 60 per cent of loans from banks and others up to $7,500 on residential real estate, and would provide a 50 per cent guarantee up to $4,000 on non-residential real estate.

Yule Stamp's Gabriel Is 'She-Angel'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A postal inspection shows that it will be Gabrielle — not Gabriel — who will be blowing the trumpet on this year's Christmas postage stamps.

The figure of the winged trumpeter is that of a she-angel. The Post Office Department announced last week that the stamp had been selected from a detail of a 1930 watercolor by Lucille Gloria Chabot. The painting, now on display at the National Gallery of Art, portrays the 1840 Gabriel watercolor vane atop the People's Methodist church in Newburyport, Mass.

The Post Office sent an investigator to Newburyport. He reported that "when viewed through binoculars, it can be observed that the questioned section of the design has a very definite protrusion."

A biblical expert at the Catholic University of America, the Rev. Louis Hartman, explained the bulge this way: "Theologians tend to use anthropomorphism in describing God and the angels. In other words, they refer to these figures in masculine terms."

"But it has been traditional for religious artists to picture the angel with an effeminate and female aura, substance or form, although no one knows why."

Printing orders have been issued for 1.2 billion of the five-cent stamps. A postal spokesman said Monday: "We're going to continue to call it the Gabriel stamp."

How Do You Integrate Heavily Negro District?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House Conference on Education tackles this thorny question today: "How do you go about integrating the schools in predominantly Negro South Chicago, Washington, D.C., and New York's Harlem?"

The problem was posed by Dean Ronald Campbell of the University of Chicago's Graduate School of Education.

Campbell contends it can't be done.

The only practical solution to the problem, he said in a background paper distributed to all conference participants, is to upgrade the quality of education in all schools — white, Negro and mixed.

Campbell said he could not accept the view that only integrated schools can be good schools.

"While I think we must promote integration," he said, "at the same time I do not believe we have hard data to support the point that only integrated education can be quality education."

The session on de facto segregation and the urban schools is just one of several highly controversial discussions scheduled for the two-day meeting.

Perhaps the most heated debate will center on whether there should be some sort of national testing to determine the quality of public education.

Those who favor the idea say that without national testing, the American taxpayer doesn't know whether he is getting a bargain or being short-changed for the billions of dollars he spends on the schools.

Opponents center their attack

Top-Ranking Nationalist Turns Red

TOKYO (AP) — Li Tsung-jen, Nationalist China's vice president for six years and its acting president for one, threw in his lot with the Chinese Communists today. He fired a parting blast at the United States which had sheltered him since 1949.

The New China News Agency said Li and his wife arrived by special plane at Peking Airport. They were greeted by Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and a delegation of 100 high Communist officials.

The 74-year-old former soldier-statesman was the most important Chinese to go over to the Reds since the Communists drove Chiang Kai-shek from the mainland 16 years ago.

Li reportedly left the United States July 15 for Switzerland. In a statement at the airport, he called the United States "our foreign enemy" and accused it of "committing a series of heinous crimes against the people of China and of the world in an attempt to isolate China and dominate the world."

"Especially since Lyndon B. Johnson came to office," he continued, "the United States has stepped up its evil deeds and expanded the war of aggression in Viet Nam, even trying thereby to provoke a war against the Chinese people."

GI Wives Given Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wives of military personnel will be eligible for government-paid foreign language training if the Senate goes along with a bill passed by the House Monday.

Apportioning Showdown Due

Senate Panel Vote May End Knotted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen today carries his fight for a constitutional amendment on legislative reapportionment to the apparently equally divided Senate Judiciary Committee.

Barring last-minute shifts in position, the prospects pointed to an 8-8 tie vote. This would deny Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, the majority support he needs to bring the issue before the Senate itself.

Conceding the possibility of such an outcome, Dirksen reiterated to reporters his determination to get Senate action on the proposed amendment on which President Johnson has made no public statement but which Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is actively fighting.

"I am a determined man," Dirksen told reporters. He would not indicate how he would overcome a committee setback. But he is at liberty any time to move to substitute the proposal for any measure now on the Senate calendar.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., apparently destroyed Dirksen's chances for a favorable committee vote on the Illinois senator's proposed reapportionment amendment when he offered a revised version of it.

Javits announced that if his substitute is rejected, he will vote against Dirksen's version in committee.

Both the Dirksen and Javits proposals would permit the voters of each state to decide whether they want one house of their legislature apportioned on other than the population basis ordered by the Supreme Court in its one-man, one-vote decision.

But Javits' version would keep the court in control of all reapportionment actions by requiring that any plan must take population into account as one of its factors and must bear "a reasonable relationship to the needs of the state."

Phoned War Telegram Is Labeled 'Crude'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, has called for delivery at the door of telegrams from the Defense Department notifying relatives of servicemen killed in action.

Young told the Senate he had just learned that Western Union for economy reasons, has adopted the practice of reading such telegrams to wives and parents over the telephone.

Young called the practice cold hearted and crude.

Stevenson Kin Lauds Goldberg

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Ives, sister of the late Adlai E. Stevenson, expressed "great delight" today over the appointment of Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg to be the new U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations.

"Justice Goldberg will make a brilliant and forceful replacement," she said. "He was a close friend of my brother and he understood Adlai and his aims."

Stevenson's death last week left the U.N. post vacant.

Columbus Man Killed In Mystery Shooting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 40-year-old man was shot and killed early today on an East Side street, a few doors from his home.

Police said there apparently were no witnesses to the shooting of Curtis H. Prunty. His body was found on the street, with bullet wounds in the neck and back.

'Little People' Unhappy

GLOUCESTER, N.J. (AP) — Did you ever visit a hotel and find the shower spigots too high?

Or have you tried to make a telephone call and found the mouthpiece too far above the floor?

Most likely not. But then, you're probably not one of the "little people."

Some 250 persons were expected today for the seventh annual convention of Little People of America Inc.

The only requisite for admission to the organization is that the applicant be less than 4 feet, 11 inches tall.

The group has about 1,800 members "and there are probably many more in the United States (who qualify) but we haven't heard of them," said a spokesman.

"We have problems that normal people don't have," said George Baehm III of New York City. "At these annual conventions we are able to discuss those problems in addition to introducing little people to other little people."

"Had I not gone to the convention in North Carolina in 1962," said the 4-foot tall Baehm, "I'd not have met my wife." Baehm's wife, Christine or "Tina," is 3-feet-11.

Baehm, who works for his family's Baehm Container Co., said among the problems facing little people is employment.

"As the public is becoming adjusted to our size," he said, "more opportunities arise."

Very few of Little People of America's members are employed in show business, he said. They are active in "almost every occupation you can think of."

Probably the biggest problem facing them is simply that the world is designed for tall people.

Girls Like Knobby Knees

FARRAGUT, Idaho (AP) — Some of the happiest people at the 1965 Girl Scout Senior Roundup shave, smoke cigars, and wouldn't be caught dead in a pair of shorts.

They form the knobby-kneed patrol of about 400 men who do everything from moving boulders to baking chocolate cakes at the 5,000-acre encampment.

"I really didn't know what to expect," said Jerry Neal, a military policeman from Chicago, Ill. "I heard rumors that all these girls were going to be Brownies."

Like most of the men here, military policeman Jay Wilson, Oakland, Calif., said he had never seen so many girls at one time — about 9,000 in all.

"They want to play with my revolver or wear my helmet. We're not supposed to talk to them, but it's hard to just smile," he said.

Many of the men eat on the encampment. But not Idaho state patrolman, Ray Thornton of Lewiston.

"All those girls make me nervous — especially when I have to eat with them," he said.

But Reed Wilson, 16, Spokane Wash., can't get nervous. He serves daily meals to many of the 2,000 adult staff.

"I have to run around here pretty fast to keep the ladies happy," he said. "They stay in here a long time — they talk too much."

Many of the men work 10 to 12 hours a day, but for some the job is never done.

Maury Hampton, a volunteer worker from Jasper, Ala., found this note attached to his pillow one night, signed by eight teenagers from his wife's senior scout patrol.

"Hi y'all," it read, "come see us again Maury. We need some more work done."

Praise, Surprise Greet Goldberg's Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP) — High praise mixed with some surprise greeted the announcement today that Justice Arthur J. Goldberg is leaving the Supreme Court to become U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Supreme Court

Borrowing words Thomas Jefferson spoke on a similar occasion, Goldberg referred to Stevenson and said: "I succeed him. No one could replace him."

President Kennedy made Goldberg his secretary of labor upon taking office and in 1962, nominated him for the Supreme Court.

Born in 1908, Goldberg was the youngest of eight children of a poverty-stricken Jewish couple who came to the United States from Russia. He got his first job at the age of 12, as a delivery boy.

For two years, he went to two colleges at once and worked nights to pay his way. He was graduated from Northwestern University Law School, top man in the class of 1929, and got special permission to take the Illinois bar examination before he was 21.

By the mid-1930s, he was counsel for a number of unions. Then came World War II, and Goldberg took a job with the Office of Strategic Services, organizing a giant espionage network of anti-Nazi transportation workers behind enemy lines.

As counsel for the CIO, he won the 1949 court ruling that made pensions a collective bargaining item. He helped engineer the agreement that created the AFL-CIO, and had leading roles in steel negotiations over a 10-year span.

Goldberg's wife is a well-known abstract painter, and modern paintings, some by Mrs. Goldberg, decorate the Labor Department offices.

The Goldbergs have two children.

President Johnson's announcement of a successor to the late Adlai E. Stevenson in the U.N. post opened speculation over filling the Supreme Court vacancy.

Initial reaction to Johnson's choice of Goldberg was favorable. But many expressed surprise that Goldberg would leave the Supreme Court to take the post.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called it "an excellent appointment." The committee will consider Goldberg's nomination before the Senate acts on it.

Circuit Judge Thurgood Marshall's name cropped up quickly as a possible successor to Goldberg. But Marshall discounted any talk of his being appointed to the Supreme Court — speculation that had started even before Goldberg's new assignment was announced.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said "I have no idea" when Johnson might be ready to announce a successor to Goldberg.

Marshall, a Negro, is resigning as a judge of the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals to become solicitor general. Johnson nominated him for the Justice Department post last week.

Another name mentioned in early speculation was that of Abe Fortas, a close friend and adviser of Johnson and former high interior Department official.

Stock Mart Is Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market headed irregularly lower early this afternoon despite strength in aerospace defense stocks and some electronics.

The defense-related issues continued to respond to prospects at 324.2 with industrials off .9 cause of the increasing emphasis on Viet Nam.

The market was mixed and dull at the start. Defense issues moved ahead and were followed later by the electronics.

Autos, oils, tobaccos and electrical equipments were among losers. Losses in these groups and others were widening in early afternoon and some of the gains among the defense-electronics were being trimmed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .5 at 324.2 with industrials off .9, rails off .3 and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.80 at 877.46.

District Court at New Orleans Monday to halt city police officials and the KKK from interfering with civil rights demonstrators.

He also asked that Public Safety Commissioner Arnold Spiers and Police Chief Claxton Knight be held in contempt.

Doar was on hand Saturday when white bystanders attacked a group of biracial pickets outside a shopping center about a block from the City Hall. There were no city police on duty.

Doar said Spiers and Knight had failed to provide reasonable protection for civil rights workers under an injunction issued July 10 by U.S. District Judge Herbert Christenberry in New Orleans.

In New Orleans, Doar also asked for an injunction to halt Klansmen from "assaulting, threatening, harassing, interfering with or intimidating... any Negro in the exercise of his rights in Washington Parish."

His complaint named three Klansmen of the original Knights of the KKK and said the Disabled American Veterans Hall outside Bogalusa was the chief gathering place for the Klan.

Spiers and Knight pledged shortly after the suits were filed in federal court that the law would be upheld.

In Doar's complaint against the two officials, five affidavits were filed by civil rights workers alleging beatings and harassment.

Doar filed other suits seeking to have three restaurants and a service station serve Negro patrons.

Estimated Budget for 1966 Received by County Board

An estimated budget of $1,557,488.99 for Pickaway County governmental functions in 1966 was accepted and placed on file yesterday by the Board of County Commissioners.

The tentative budget calls for general fund operations amounting to $717,892.82. This represents an increase of $23,291.22 over the anticipated figure for 1965 and about $33,542.92 more than was actually appropriated for this year.

The estimated figure on expenditures from the auto license and gasoline tax fund was listed at $761,000. The actual appropriation for 1965 was $532,900.

Other tentative budgets for required governmental functions were: maintenance and repair, $9,000; school for retarded children, $21,500; Ashville - Teays Valley Storm Sewer, $2,001.41; Ashville - Teays Valley Storm Sewer bond retirement, $3,720 plus unpaid amount for 1965; TB hospital, $20,000; county ditch, $1,144; Knollwood Village bond retirement, $3,413.75 plus unpaid amount for 1965; Knollwood operating fund, $2,000; real estate assessment, $6,500; soil and water conservation, $1,300; dog and kennel, $8,015.

THE TOTAL estimated budget exceeds the 1965 proposal of $1,304,025.27 by $253,463.72. The actual appropriation for operations this year was $1,298,404.

The tentative budget figures are based on estimated expenditures as compiled and submitted by various departments within the county governmental structure. They form an outline for a general estimate of county operations for the coming year.

Actual appropriations will be made in early January by the Board of County Commissioners.

In other business yesterday, the solons named Howard Koch to serve on a panel auditing the county budget.

Youth Corps Project Starts At Park Here

Twelve Circleville High School students started work yesterday at A. W. Marion State Park as a part of the National Youth Corps program. More were expected to begin today.

The students will be put to work cleaning the park area and building nature trails in the park, according to Cloyce (Pete) Hattery, park manager.

Hattery noted the youths were assigned to the area through the Ohio State Employment Office.

Stevenson Rests with Ancestors

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, the wit and scholar who overcame diffidence to become "statesman for all the world" lay finally at rest today with his ancestors in a quiet country cemetery.

His funeral was Monday after a five-day state journey from London, where he died of a heart seizure on a sidewalk Wednesday at 65.

President and Mrs. Johnson with their daughter, Luci; Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey; and Chief Justice and Mrs. Earl Warren led an impressive corps of dignitaries who brought their respects to the former United Nations ambassador in this central Illinois community of 50,000 he called home.

The humbler people, too — their number estimated at 60,000 by Bloomington's police — paid him their tribute, some of them standing for hours in the sultry summer heat to watch the cortege.

The body of Stevenson had been brought home from England in the

Praise, Surprise Greet Goldberg's Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP) — High praise mixed with some surprise greeted the announcement today that Justice Arthur J. Goldberg is leaving the Supreme Court to become U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Supreme Court

Borrowing words Thomas Jefferson spoke on a similar occasion, Goldberg referred to Stevenson and said: "I succeed him. No one could replace him."

President Kennedy made Goldberg his secretary of labor upon taking office and in 1962, nominated him for the Supreme Court.

Born in 1908, Goldberg was the youngest of eight children of a poverty-stricken Jewish couple who came to the United States from Russia. He got his first job at the age of 12, as a delivery boy.

For two years, he went to two colleges at once and worked nights to pay his way. He was graduated from Northwestern University Law School, top man in the class of 1929, and got special permission to take the Illinois bar examination before he was 21.

By the mid-1930s, he was counsel for a number of unions. Then came World War II, and Goldberg took a job with the Office of Strategic Services, organizing a giant espionage network of anti-Nazi transportation workers behind enemy lines.

As counsel for the CIO, he won the 1949 court ruling that made pensions a collective bargaining item. He helped engineer the agreement that created the AFL-CIO, and had leading roles in steel negotiations over a 10-year span.

Goldberg's wife is a well-known abstract painter, and modern paintings, some by Mrs. Goldberg, decorate the Labor Department offices.

The Goldbergs have two children.

President Johnson's announcement of a successor to the late Adlai E. Stevenson in the U.N. post opened speculation over filling the Supreme Court vacancy.

Initial reaction to Johnson's choice of Goldberg was favorable. But many expressed surprise that Goldberg would leave the Supreme Court to take the post.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called it "an excellent appointment." The committee will consider Goldberg's nomination before the Senate acts on it.

Circuit Judge Thurgood Marshall's name cropped up quickly as a possible successor to Goldberg. But Marshall discounted any talk of his being appointed to the Supreme Court — speculation that had started even before Goldberg's new assignment was announced.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said "I have no idea" when Johnson might be ready to announce a successor to Goldberg.

Marshall, a Negro, is resigning as a judge of the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals to become solicitor general. Johnson nominated him for the Justice Department post last week.

Another name mentioned in early speculation was that of Abe Fortas, a close friend and adviser of Johnson and former high Interior Department official.

Stock Mart Is Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market headed irregularly lower early this afternoon despite strength in aerospace defense stocks and some electronics.

The defense-related issues continued to respond to prospects at 324.2 with industrials off .9 cause of the increasing emphasis on Viet Nam.

The market was mixed and dull at the start. Defense issues moved ahead and were followed later by the electronics.

Autos, oils, tobaccos and electrical equipments were among losers. Losses in these groups and others were widening in early afternoon and some of the gains among the defense-electronics were being trimmed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .5 at 324.2 with industrials off .9, rails off .3 and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.80 at 877.46.

Berger Hospital staff members administered emergency care to three persons yesterday. All were treated and released.

Ernil Stonerock, 48, of 425 E. Main St., punctured his foot on a piece of rusty wire.

Joey Brooks, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brooks, Route 1, Kingston, was bitten on the left side of the face by a dog.

Lisa Parsons, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Parsons, 126 Park St., fell at home and injured her left arm.

Youth Corps Project Starts At Park Here

Twelve Circleville High School students started work yesterday at A. W. Marion State Park as a part of the National Youth Corps program. More were expected to begin today.

The students will be put to work cleaning the park area and building nature trails in the park, according to Cloyce (Pete) Hattery, park manager.

Hattery noted the youths were assigned to the area through the Ohio State Employment Office.

Milk Price Control Foes Give Views

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Opponents of a Senate-passed bill to prohibit milk price wars predicted today such a ban will drive the price of milk up in Ohio.

"We could very easily be required to double our markup," said Karl M. Kahler, executive assistant of the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants.

Kahler, a leadoff witness before the House Agriculture Committee, said the bill was confusing, "unnecessary regulation and its defies interpretation."

He was among a dozen witnesses scheduled to appear before the committee.

"The only thing that this bill can do in the long run is result in higher prices of milk," Kahler, of Columbus, said. The bill is aimed at supermarkets and food chains who cut the price of milk to lure customers into the store to buy other items.

Proponents of the bill said last week this practice is driving the small dairy farmer out of business.

A second witness, Frank Starks, president of the Ohio Retail Food Dealers, said "this bill is designed to halt practices which are perfectly acceptable in other areas."

He cited gasoline price wars as one example. Sparks, predicting the bill "is almost certain to increase the price of milk," gave the committee a breakdown of prices in other states which have similar controls.

He said a half-gallon of milk costs 51 cents in Oklahoma, 49 cents in Pennsylvania, 55 cents in Florida, 55 cents in Georgia, and 35 cents in northern Ohio.

Antiriot Bill May Be Curbed In Ohio Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An antirioting bill that may have set an early speed record in the 106th Ohio General Assembly faced a stop sign today in the Ohio Senate.

Senate Democratic Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas, planned to lead a floor fight against the hurriedly drafted measure that stemmed from Fourth of July riots at two Ohio summer resorts.

King, also president of the Ohio AFL-CIO, described as "ridiculous" provisions in the bill permitting convicted rioters to be assigned to a civilian work force under the Ohio National Guard.

"All this thing would do is allow concentration camps," King said of the emergency bill recommended for passage after two speedy hearings by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sen. William H. Daddens, R-Hamilton, sponsored the measure along with Sens. Robin Turner, R-Seneca, and Robert E. Stockdale, R-Portage, in whose districts the riots occurred.

Daddens introduced the measure only two days after youthful outbursts at Russell's Point and Geneva-on-the-Lake resulted in the arrest of more than 300 persons and thousands of dollars in property damage.

"Most of them just shelled out fines and went on their way," Daddens said.

The return of the lawmakers for weekend recess found some still talking about the possibility of ending the long session by Friday. But others insisted the ironing out of details on several pieces of legislation will delay adjournment until around the first of August.

More hearings were conducted Monday night by the Senate Education Committee on the $645 million school foundation bill, considered the biggest road-block.

Committee members indicated they will seek amendments to the House-passed bill in several areas, including additional funds for extended services. Such an attempt could delay action beyond the Wednesday target date announced earlier by Chairman Oakley C. Collins, R-Lawrence.

The House Liquor Control Committee virtually completed action Monday night on a Senate bill which could help lure a multimillion-dollar brewery in Central Ohio.

It would permit on-premises sale of beer and intoxicating beverages at breweries, a promotion practice followed by Anheuser-Busch, Inc. which has taken option on a tract of land in nearby Worthington.

The committee voted 5-2 to recommend passage with seven votes needed and six members absent from the 13-member committee.

Chairman Thomas A. Pottenger, R-Hamilton, recessed the meeting until today and indicated he expected no trouble getting the two needed votes.
Ohio's multimillion-dollar printing business would be streamlined under a measure approved on the House floor Monday over protests it contained a built-in censorship provision.

It would reduce from six to four the classes of state printing and give the finance director authority to divide major contracts now dominated by one Columbus firm.

Fur, Gem Thieves 'Show Know-How'

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Police theorize that burglars who pounded a 2-by-3-foot hole through a 6-inch concrete wall and escaped with furs and jewelry valued at $50,000 from a large department store over the weekend had considerable knowledge of the store's alarm system.

A plywood fence surrounding construction work at the north end of LaSalle's Westgate store concealed the work of the burglars as they smashed their way into the building. The burglary was not discovered until early Monday.

Dixiecrat Is Applauded For Vote Rights Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana said today the reaction has been overwhelmingly favorable to a House speech in which he said there has been voting discrimination against Negroes in parts of the South.

He said he does not think his speech or his vote in favor of the voting rights measure will hurt him politically. He represents Louisiana's 2nd Congressional District, which includes part of New Orleans.

In the final hours of debate on the bill 10 days ago, Boggs, assistant Democratic House leader, told his colleagues:

"I wish I could stand here as a man who loves my state, born and reared in the South, who has spent every year of his life in Louisiana since he was 5 years old, and say that there has not been discrimination. . . . But unfortunately it is not so."

He said, "I shall support this bill because I believe the fundamental right to vote must be a part of this great experiment in human progress under freedom which is America."

The Mississippi-born congressman discussed his talk and the reaction to it in an interview which included these questions and answers:

Q. Your recent House speech on the voting rights bill, which has attracted considerable nationwide attention, conceded that there has been discrimination against Negroes in the South in the past. What reaction have you received from this talk, particularly from your state and district?

A. The reaction has been overwhelmingly favorable. In the 2nd Congressional District, the margin is better than 7 to 1. Elsewhere it is better than 3 to 1. The favorable responses came from a dozen states and France and Guam. Significantly, one of my constituents who for years has been critical wrote: "sometimes, as you probably are all too aware, I do not agree with the votes or policies of the administration or yourself, but on this matter you said what has greatly needed admitting for generations. Good for you."

Q. Will this speech hurt you politically in a future campaign?

A. I do not believe it will. I believe the people of my district share my belief in the fundamental right of every American citizen to freely choose their own public officials regardless of race or creed.

Q. You mentioned a fear Southerners have that if Negroes register and vote there would be a decline in the caliber of government and said this has been disproved in many counties. Do you believe this will be dissipated over the South? If so, when?

A. I do believe this fear has already been dissipated to a great extent and this is continuing at a rapid rate. Today there are more than 100 counties and parishes in the Deep South that have most of their eligible Negroes on the registration rolls. And their caliber of government will rise because more citizens will have a real stake in their government and will participate to a greater extent. This fear will be completely dissipated when Southerners realize that their neighbors are succeeding with government with all citizens registered regardless of race or creed. The counties and parishes with most of their eligible Negroes registered stretch across the South, with 23 in Louisiana, 5 in Alabama, 37 in Georgia, 7 in South Carolina and 29 in Virginia.

Q. Have any of your Southern colleagues criticized you or commended you privately for your talk?

A. None have criticized — many have commended me.

Big City Kids Get First Look at Small Town Life

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (AP)—Sometimes understanding is just finding out that everybody likes watermelon.

That's the way it came, in simple things like picnics and pony rides and swimming, to 37 Negro children from Chicago's South Side. And, no less and no differently, to the residents of this small southwestern Wisconsin college community which still bears the stamp of the Cornishmen who came a century ago to dig in the area's lead mines.

The week long visit, which ended Saturday, was intended to do just that — give the urban children a glimpse of the world that lies beyond their familiar brick walls, and let the residents of this all-white community of some 7,000 peek through children's eyes at the life in the inner core. It wasn't strictly an exercise in what they still call Christian duty around here, although in truth that was mentioned too when the matter came up for discussion at the First Congregational church, where one of three participating ministers, the Rev. Richard Chartier, presides.

But proof of the pudding came when youngsters at the municipal swimming pool admired the tan of Louise Williams, 7, and at the wistful expression on the faces of Bernie Willkomm's own kids when Danny Merriweather, 10, was confronted by a lawn mower in the Willkomm front yard.

"What's that for?" asked Danny, who lives in a 16-family apartment building. The Willkomm kids know, all right; they explained. You push it. And push it. And push it. The visit started in the Congregational church and soon enlisted the Rev. Robert Adams and the Methodist church.

The Rev. Mr. Adams was quick to admit to what you might call selfish motives.

"We wanted to show the kids a good time, but most of all, we wanted to acquaint our relatively isolated people with people from urban areas."

Small Business Agency Opens In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—A new organization was started here Monday to help small businessmen with practical management advice and loans.

The $125,000 area redevelopment project is the Cleveland Small Business Opportunity and Development Corp., a non-profit organization of businessmen, educators, labor and civic leaders to increase job opportunities.

William L. Batt Jr., administrator of area redevelopment, and Small Business Administrator Eugene P. Foley came here from Washington to address a dedicatory luncheon.

Batt reported the Area Redevelopment Administration has invested $3.4 million in Ohio communities "hard hit by chronic unemployment."

"We have trained 600 Cleveland men and women for 17 different occupations," Batt reported, at a cost of nearly $500,000.

The new center is at 1101 Lakeside Ave.

The visit started in the Congregational church and soon enlisted the Rev. Robert Adams and the Methodist church.

The Rev. Mr. Adams was quick to admit to what you might call selfish motives.

"We wanted to show the kids a good time, but most of all, we wanted to acquaint our relatively isolated people with people from urban areas."

Small Business Agency Opens In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—A new organization was started here Monday to help small businessmen with practical management advice and loans.

The $125,000 area redevelopment project is the Cleveland Small Business Opportunity and Development Corp., a non-profit organization of businessmen, educators, labor and civic leaders to increase job opportunities.

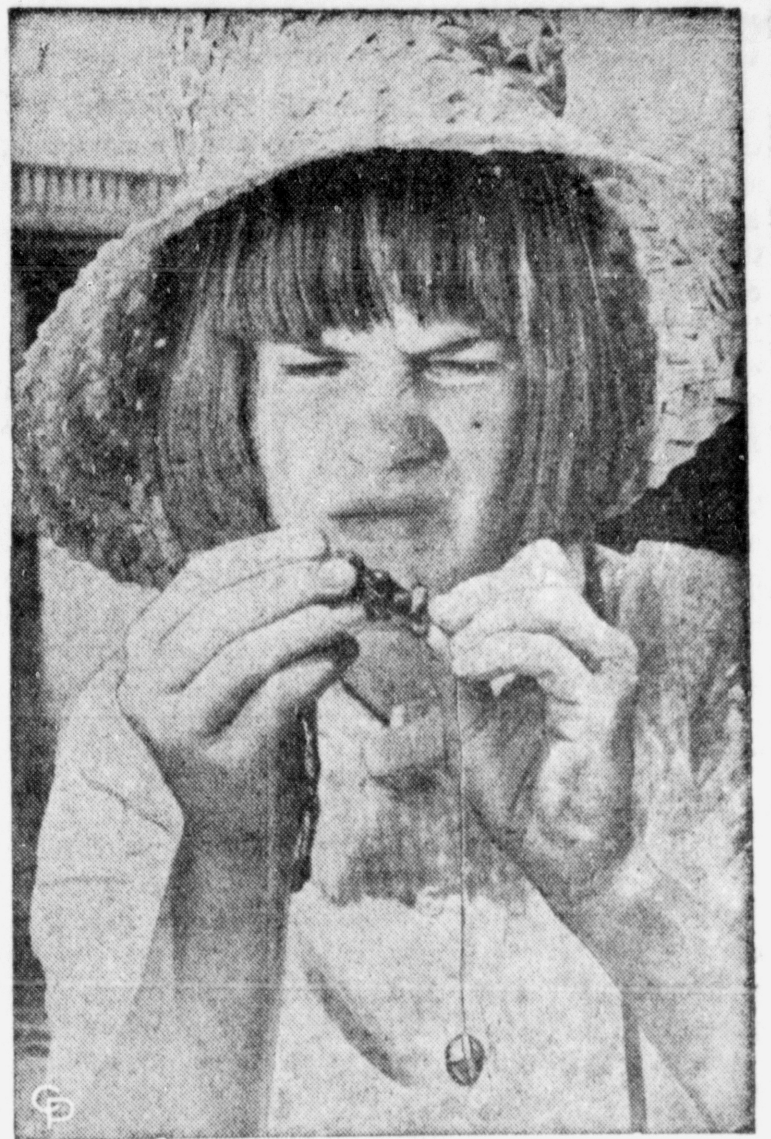

William L. Batt Jr., administrator of area redevelopment, and Small Business Administrator Eugene P. Foley came here from Washington to address a dedicatory luncheon.

Batt reported the Area Redevelopment Administration has invested $3.4 million in Ohio communities "hard hit by chronic unemployment."

"We have trained 600 Cleveland men and women for 17 different occupations," Batt reported, at a cost of nearly $500,000.

The new center is at 1101 Lakeside Ave.

Politics Isn't Cricket

It seems all's fair in politics in Britain, otherwise a cradle of fair play and sportsmanship. The other day Tory MPs in considerable number drifted out of the House of Commons as midnight came and passed and speeches on major tax legislation continued interminably. Many Labor legislators, who have only a four-vote margin, assumed it was safe for them to go home.

But the opposition hadn't gone home. They collected in conspiratorial flats nearby, and at a prearranged, predawn deadline rushed back to defeat three Labor bills.

Since the Labor party has taken the attitude that it will resign only when de-

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — There is a time to stay and a time to go, and my time to leave South Viet Nam has come.

At least for now. The way the war is going, however, none can say how many who have served here for a while may be summoned to come again.

For this is the war nobody really knows. Most of us see only fragments of it — even those in high places on both sides — and can only guess what final pattern will emerge.

But it is clear that many more American tears and much more American blood will be shed before the situation is ended by a political agreement or a battlefield conclusion.

We are no longer a referee or an umpire in a foreign civil struggle. We are no longer merely advisers. We are no longer simply pocketbook supporters of the side we favor. We are military participants and will become so in fuller measure.

Now we must supply more than cash. Now we must provide both backbone and muscle if we propose to continue here. And it would help the situation if we were to realize this fully ourselves.

It is easier to be an authority

Our side has all the necessary big weapons to win an orthodox war — from aircraft carriers to self-propelled guns. But they know better how and where and when to ambush us than we seem to know how, where and when to ambush them.

The more Viet Cong we kill, the more of them come into the fight.

Some hold the war can never be won on the battlefield by either side, and that the only answer to military stalemate is diplomatic bargaining.

Some hold that diplomatic compromise would only postpone the issue. They feel that after a pause of a few months or years the Viet Cong would take over political power they have been unable so far to achieve by ambush.

This, in summary, is the present state of the war nobody knows the outcome of.

But it is obvious that we can no longer win it with a checkbook alone. As scores of thousands more U.S. troops make the long journey to Viet Nam, what they do there will bring home to us all the deepening price we must pay if we are to achieve our purpose in this mixed-up land.

No 'Long, Hot Summer' Yet

By John Chamberlain

At the time of the All-Star baseball game in mid-July the shape of the season in the major leagues is pretty firmly established. The teams that are one-two-three at mid-summer will be right up there in September. The New York Mets and the Kansas City Athletics will finish last. The waning summer days have brought surprises in the past, as when the old Boston Braves rode up eight places in eight or ten weeks, but the law of averages is distinctly against this sort of thing.

By analogy, dare we take heart because, at All-Star time, the winter prophecies that it would be a "long, hot summer" in the slums of the big cities had not been fulfilled? The shape of the season here could be set. The success of the civil rights proponents in carrying forward their fight in the halls of Congress has already had its reflex in at least a comparative restoration of patience to the streets. The promise of preschool summer education has had its effect. The history of the middle Nineteen Thirties, which opened with a spate of labor violence and closed with peaceful agreements between the newly-fledged CIO and the big automobile and steel companies, could be more or less repeating itself on the civil rights front today.

It has always stood to reason that "long, hot summer" must at some point run into the law of diminishing returns. Violence must either go forward into revolution or give way to common sense adjustment of issues. The Automobile Workers in the Thirties couldn't sit in forever — they had to keep General Motors and Ford going because it is production, not violence, that keeps labor itself supplied with the good things of life.

The truly heartening thing about this summer is that the Communists and their de facto allies among the free lance radicals are meeting with difficulties in their attempt to tie up civil rights violence with the campaign to sabotage the U.S. in its Southeastern Asiatic and Caribbean policies. James Farmer, the national director of CORE (the Congress of Racial Equality), has, despite his own personal opinions about peace, told his organization that it has no business mixing civil rights issues with Vietnam. And, significantly, there has been no widespread movement on the part of members of Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference to follow their leader in his pacifistic and appeasing approach to foreign policy.

In putting these words down on paper, we run the risk of being confuted by events. But if the official Communists, the local Maoists, the Progressive Labor Party, the Students for a Democratic Society and other advocates of Leftist extremism succeed in making the month of August a shambles, the source of the agitation will be fairly plain to almost everybody. The demonstrators will simply be tagging themselves as either the dupes or the servants of a foreign conspiracy.

Too much is known, by the FBI and the local police departments, about the movements of conspiratorial agents to permit easy deception of the American people from here on in. In Chicago, where there has been a real attempt to make it a "long, hot summer" on the pattern of a year ago, Mayor Richard Daley sees to it that the investigators of lie-downs and sit-ins are well photographed for identification. The appearance of Communists in key spots among the demonstrators has been documented in depth.

There are plenty of writers, as these words are being written, that the way-out Left is cooking up some "long, hot summer" stuff for August in Wash-

Many Labor legislators, who have only a four-vote margin, assumed it was safe for them to go home.

But the opposition hadn't gone home. They collected in conspiratorial flats nearby, and at a prearranged, predawn deadline rushed back to defeat three Labor bills.

Since the Labor party has taken the attitude that it will resign only when defeated, not on a bill but on a vote of confidence, Prime Minister Wilson turned a deaf ear to Tory demands that he call a general election.

Actually, even the Conservatives don't want an election now. They fear they would find themselves in the present Labor boat, in power, but by a margin too close for safety or comfort. Furthermore, international politics and the pound are too uncertain now to risk a bitter national campaign.

So the Tories will probably continue to snipe and the Socialists to hang on at least until one or the other thinks the time is propitious for a general election.

The Proper Way

Much in the manner of Sir Walter Raleigh's gallantry to Elizabeth I did the stationmaster at Matlock rise to the need when a minor catastrophe threatened Elizabeth II's sister Margaret.

Minutes before the princess was due for a rather large do at the Duke of Devonshire's, Stationmaster Fletcher noticed the cracks between planks of a cross-track footbridge Margaret would tread. Instantly resourceful, Mr. Fletcher laid a rail coach's abandoned carpet over the walk.

One might think Mr. Fletcher would draw nought but praise for his thoughtfulness. But to so assume is to misjudge British politics.

Rising in wrath, Mrs. Peggy Edwards, Liberal candidate for Parliament, complained to British Railways. Why, Mrs. Edwards wanted to know, should Princess Margaret be protected from the folly of her stiletto heels and not all women, of high station and low, who might have occasion to cross the footbridge at Matlock Station?

The point apparently being that gallantry is a noble thing, providing it is extended to all. And what gentleman would dare say the Liberal candidate from Derby South isn't right?

Record of Sorts

Passenger liners sailing in and out of New York Harbor have been busy setting records. Nine thousand travelers landed or departed in a single day. A record for six days was set when 27 liners carried 30,400 passengers out of or into the port.

But alas, while all the record-making has been going on, the U. S. merchant marine has been taking a beating because of a maritime strike, now in its second month.

Perhaps it is symbolic that the strike which has tied up American flag vessels is not over wages, hours and other issues looking to future working conditions. It principally is over retirement benefits for maritime engineers.

What happens in the way of jobs and advancement opportunities after those who started the current strike take their leave apparently couldn't matter less.

NEW YORK (AP) — One of Wall Street's cherished traditions is the summer rally. And this year even those who scoff at such things are watching the market closely for a sign of a sustained rally.

Some brokers are hoping that the market's recent steadying has made a foundation on which a measurable rally can be built.

In their view the sharp break at the end of June was the climax of the long slide from the stock price highs reached May 14. These brokers term the rebound from that climax a technical reaction to overselling and not a dyed-in-the-wool summer rally.

And they see the lazy trading and minor price variations of last week as a sign that the market at last may be immune to much of the nervousness which triggered the declines of last month and late May.

Like many of Wall Street's traditions there is nothing sure about a summer rally.

Sometimes it is absent or so minor and short an event as scarcely to merit that description. Sometimes it comes early in the summer. Usually it is tied to some news event that has little seasonal coloring. And sometimes the rally has been so late that the traditionalists have been hard put to defend it as a summer rather than an early fall rally.

Often a little rebound, however technical and short lived, is termed a summer rally just to get that tradition neatly sewed up and out of the way.

This year one is awaited with more than usual anticipation. That is because of all the uncertainties that caused the May-June breaks and that still persist.

Viet Nam is the biggest question mark. But some brokers say that most traders have discounted the buildup in the war there. Many who sold nervously in May and June foresaw the trend to greater involvement of U.S. men and money in that war.

Business uncertainties also have plagued the market. Many stock traders have taken to the sidelines after lightening their portfolios and are waiting to see how the 53-month-old business upswing survives a summer slowdown and fares next fall.

A rally would please business because it would tend to bolster public confidence — and good business is built on that. The Johnson administration would be pleased as a sign that nervousness over the effectiveness of its fiscal policies had been overcome.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

Recently I was a patient in Berger Hospital.

When my doctor told me that I would be admitted to Berger, I was a little skeptical since I had heard unfavorable comments about the hospital — such as being understaffed, lacking medical practices and so on. From experience I can now say I received wonderful care. The doctor and nurses personnel there do everything in their power to comfort the patient.

When bond issues for expansion or modernization of the hospital are resented to the public, many people (as I did) think: "why should I vote for it? It will just be an increase in taxes that already are too high. They are getting along now — they don't really need the money."

But when voting persons should say to themselves: "I may be a patient tomorrow. I will want the best of medicine, personnel and facilities that money can buy."

This attitude would change the thinking of many. And give the city a hospital to be proud of.

Lack of energy and a sense of fatigue seems to be a part of my daily life. My three young children keep me constantly busy. But I don't think that they nor my husband nor our social obligations are responsible for the feeling of utter exhaustion. I am 34 years old and usually healthy and vital and resent my inability to sustain my energy. What can be responsible for this distressing feeling of weakness?

Mrs. B.L.D., Wisconsin
Dear Mrs. D: Physicians are aware that one of most frequent of all complaints brought to their offices is a vague feeling of weakness and fatigue. Patients refer to it in different ways: Listlessness, weakness, lack of energy, fatigue.

In most instances it takes a tremendous amount of study to uncover the real reason for fatigue when it is not related to unusual physical activity.

A great error is to attribute fatigue too quickly to emotional causes. This is the easy answer, but, unfortunately, it is too often the incorrect one. Before a psychological explanation for fatigue is made, all physical possibilities should first be checked out.

If the emotions are not responsible for fatigue, what are some of the possibilities that will be ruled out during your physical examination? Many of these are mentioned not to suggest the possibility that they are responsible for your personal complaint, but rather they are listed to show how thoroughly the body must be inspected before psychological "stress" is considered the answer to the symptoms.

Chronic infectious diseases, hepatitis, infectious mononucleosis, anemia and disturbances of the endocrine glands, like the thyroid and pituitary, are only a few of the causes of chronic fatigue.

Does this mean that you are afflicted with any of these? It does not. It means rather that there is a need to find the exact reason why a young mother, admittedly an overworked mother, should be as fatigued as you are.

If all examinations fail to show any physical reasons for your fatigue don't be alarmed into thinking you may be suffering from an unknown psychological malady.

Simple rest, and a period of the day that must be your very own is an "emotional antibiotic" that can cure many of the chronic symptoms of fatigue.

The stamina of the body is remarkable. But it needs to be replenished with energy that comes from periods of time free of cooking, cleaning and children.

Husbands who come home in the evening and say, "Phew, what a rough day," have usually had a lawn picnic compared to the "4-minute mile" you housewives run a hundred times a day.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — There is a time to stay and a time to go, and my time to leave South Viet Nam has come.

It is easier to be an authority on the war in Viet Nam if you have never been here, or if you have been here 50 hours, than if you have been here 50 days or, probably, 50 months. It is easier to have hard and clear views as to how it can be settled.

The longer you stay here the more difficult it is to be sure you understand what really is going on, or whether any solution offered is the right and satisfactory one.

Here are a few of the confusing things you run into in this most bewildering of wars:

The land is lovely, but it is studded with millions of hidden bamboo and steel spike traps that will rip an unwary foot through the bone.

The people seem, on the whole, friendly to the American outsider. But a cousin of the smiling little boy you pat on the head this morning may blow up your billet tonight.

There are no fixed lines as in previous wars. The enemy is before you, beside you, and behind you. There is no absolute test to tell friend from foe.

Our side holds the big cities; their side holds most of the countryside. But they have five columns in every city, and we are trying to infiltrate the land areas they run.

Our side has all the necessary big weapons to win an orthodox war — from aircraft carriers to self-propelled guns. But they know better how and where and when to ambush us than we seem to know how, where and when to ambush them.

The more Viet Cong we kill, the more of them come into the fight.

The Automobile Workers in the Thirties couldn't sit in fore- they had to keep General Motors and Ford going because it is production, not violence, that keeps labor itself supplied with the good things of life.

The truly heartening thing about this summer is that the Communists and their defacto allies among the free lance radicals are meeting with difficulties in their attempt to tie up civil rights violence with the campaign to sabotage the U.S. in its Southeastern Asiatic and Caribbean policies. James Farmer, the national director of CORE (the Congress of Racial Equality), has, despite his own personal opinions about peace, told his organization that it has no business mixing civil rights issues with Vietnam. And, significantly, there has been no widespread movement on the part of members of Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference to follow their leader in his pacifistic and appeasing approach to foreign policy.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO
Junior High MYF honored new seventh grade members with a swimming party at the Pickaway Country Club.

Mrs. Roloff Wolford, executive secretary of the Pickaway Red Cross Chapter stated that there were only 10 donors scheduled for the Bloodmobile visit and the quota was 200.

A total of 51 births and 19 deaths occurred in Pickaway County during June, according to the County and City Health Departments.

TEN YEARS AGO
Mr. and Mrs. Owen Fullen and daughter, Richmond, Ind., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Martin and daughter, Route 3.

Vernon Weiler, E. Franklin St., was a medical patient in Berger Hospital.

Members of the Grow and Glow Jr. Garden Club held a tea in Pickaway High School auditorium.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
The Chamber of Commerce announced that additional Circleville business firms had joined in the move to close for a half-day Wednesday through July and August.

Circleville's most severe heat wave of the season continued and threatened to push temperature above the record set yesterday at 97 degrees.

Jack Heeter, Franklin Crites and Dan McClain, employees of the local Ohio Fuel Gas Co., were attending a meeting of employees at Malta.

In putting these words down on paper, we run the risk of being confuted by events. But if the official Communists, the local Maoists, the Progressive Labor Party, the Students for a Democratic Society and other advocates of Leftist extremism succeed in making the month of August a shambles, the source of the agitation will be fairly plain to almost everybody. The demonstrators will simply be tagging themselves as either the dupes or the servants of a foreign conspiracy.

Too much is known, by the FBI and the local police departments, about the movements of conspiratorial agents to permit easy deception of the American people from here on in. In Chicago, where there has been a real attempt to make it a "long, hot summer" on the pattern of a year ago, Mayor Richard Daley sees to it that the instigators of lie-downs and sit-ins are well photographed for identification. The appearance of Communists in key spots among the demonstrators has been documented in depth.

There are plenty of rumors, as these words are being written, that the way-out Left is cooking up some "long, hot summer" stuff for August in Wash-

Circleville, Ohio

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Can you remember anything Secretary of State Dean Rusk ever said except for that "eyeball to eyeball" bit about the Cuban missile crisis?

Probably not. And that in itself is one of the best commentaries on how he runs his job. He is one of the most anonymous secretaries of state this country ever had. He wants it that way.

Nevertheless, for a man who says so little memorable or controversial, it's odd how rumors keep popping up that President Johnson, who inherited him from President John F. Kennedy, is going to replace him.

There was one after Johnson won the presidency on his own in the 1964 election. There were rumors after that. There was one last week. There was another, coming out of Congress, Monday.

This one has Johnson appointing Rusk U.S. ambassador to the United Nations to succeed the late Adlai E. Stevenson. But if Johnson has any such thought he put himself in an awkward position to do anything about it.

Last week, the day before Stevenson died, Johnson was asked about the rumor going around then that he planned to get rid of Rusk. The President told the questioner:

"I think you do a great damage and a great disservice to one of the most able and most competent and most dedicated men I have ever known, Secretary Rusk. He sits to my right in the Cabinet room. He ranks first in Cabinet and he ranks first with me."

On the face of it that would seem the best piece of job insurance Rusk could get. Monday's rumor had Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara succeeding Rusk if Rusk took Stevenson's place.

But Johnson seems immensely pleased with both men in the jobs they have. Only three weeks after taking office in 1963 Johnson said of McNamara:

"This country never had an 'abler or more dedicated secretary of defense and I have known them all." At another time Johnson said McNamara "represents the very best in America."

Since Rusk and McNamara get along, there's no apparent rivalry or bickering between them but there is a difference.

McNamara, highly aggressive, has antagonized some members of Congress, especially in wanting to save money by shutting down government installations in some congressional districts.

His self-assurance irks some people, too. He says that when Kennedy gave him the defense job he chose an "active role providing aggressive leadership" and it "represents my own philosophy of management."

He is an acknowledged whiz on facts, figures and managing the whole defense set-up. It's a lot more difficult to make an appraisal of Rusk. Highly intelligent, amazingly self-effacing, he almost always says the usual.

His best-remembered statement came in talking about the head-on American-Russian showdown over Cuban missiles in 1962. Rusk said the two countries were "eyeball to eyeball and I think the other fellow blinked."

Rusk, unlike McNamara, avoids public clashes almost totally. Therefore, since he is obvious and usual in public, his great value to Johnson must come in his contributions behind closed doors.

One thing is sure: he's calm and he is a master in his field of foreign affairs, which means he's an expert technician. This would seem to make him to order for Johnson and Kennedy.

Both insisted on doing the talking on big problems. Thus Rusk is a switch from his two most famous predecessors of the past 15 years: Secretaries of State Dean Acheson and John Foster Dulles.

Both were always in hot water from talking.

Lion Tamer Clyde Beatty Dies at 61

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — "I want people to see me close," Clyde Beatty used to say. "I'll give them anything. I'll give them everything. But not that one thing...I won't give my life."

And he didn't.

The famed wild-animal trainer, his body criss-crossed with claw and fang marks from 40 years of facing death in the ring, lost his battle Monday to an inner enemy — cancer. He was 61. He was a native of Bainbridge, Ohio, and ran away from home at 16 to join a circus. A year later, he had his own animal act.

Beatty, who was mauled more than 100 times in his career by lions and tigers, lost most of his stomach in an operation in July, 1964. But he resumed his wild animal act last April on Long Island, N.Y., with two and three shows a day.

The next month he suffered a hemorrhage and returned to his home, but refused to announce his retirement, saying "I'll never quit."

He was hospitalized two weeks ago. Only a nurse was with him when he died. His wife Jane had just left, after he seemed to rally.

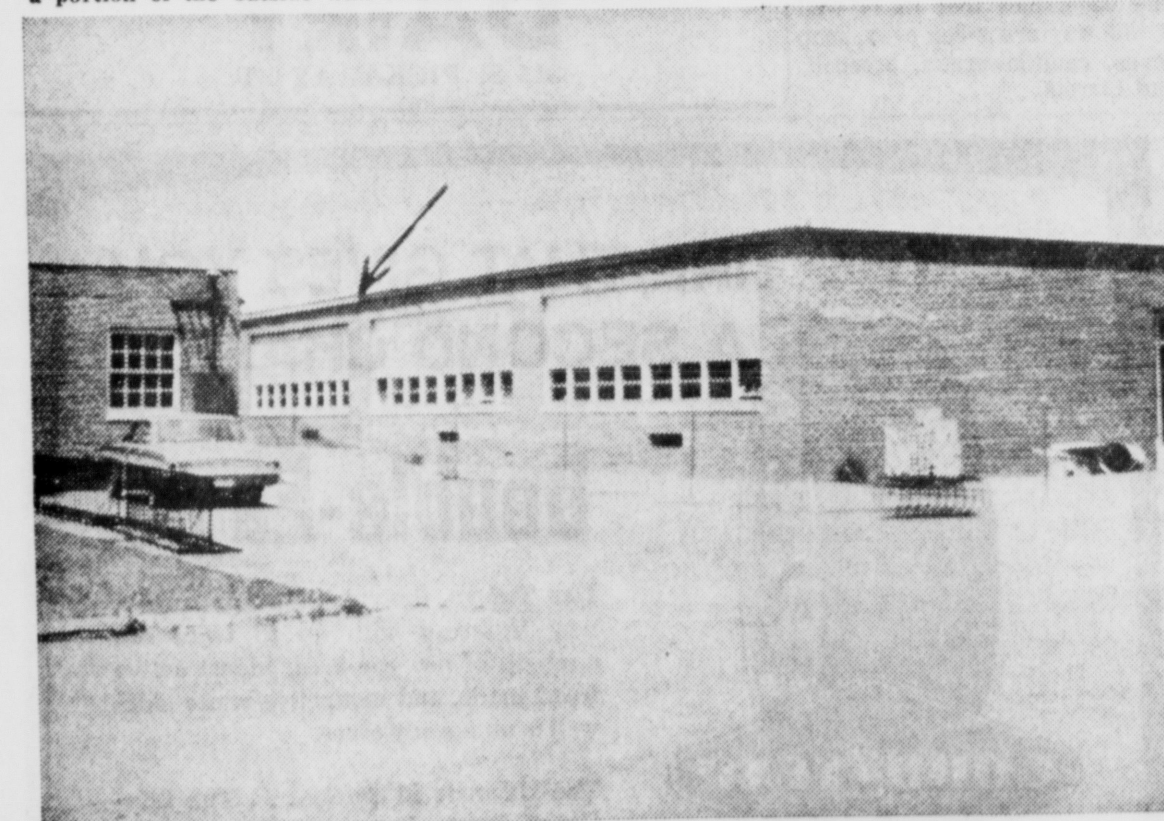

Cabbie Is Accused In Skateboard Death

CINCINNATI (AP) — A taxi driver has been booked on two charges as the result of an accident in which his cab struck and killed a boy riding a skateboard.

Orlando Parker, 30, Lincoln Heights, was charged Monday with operating an unroadworthy vehicle and failure to possess a city taxi license after David Miniard, 6, was killed near his home in suburban Lockland.

GROUNDWORK — Groundwork at the site of Circleville's new high school is progressing on schedule. Underground plumbing and electrical work is nearly finished and bricklayers have started outside walls in most areas. Completion date for the new building is September 1966. The football field and other outside recreational facilities also are under construction. This picture shows plumbing and electrical wiring protruding from the ground. In the foreground is a portion of the outside wall that has been erected.

ATWATER ADDITION — The four-classroom addition at the Atwater building is nearing completion stages. With the addition, the building will have a total of 17 classrooms when school opens in September. Housing students of kindergarten through the sixth grade, complete cafeteria facilities are available. The addition was made to the south wing of the building. The arrow points to the area where the new section was added.

OUTDOOR RECREATION — This area will serve most outdoor recreation activities for the new high school under construction at the rear of Nicholas Drive School. The spacious area will be used for a practice football field, softball diamond, tennis courts and parking. The Nicholas Drive building can be seen in the upper left background. The open area here is directly in front of the new building.

Come September most Circleville elementary students will be sitting in classrooms less than 10 years old. Many of them will be housed in brand new surroundings.

The school building program isn't to be completed until September 1966 when the new high school will open. But this fall there will be one completely new building and two elementary additions.

The new buildings to open will do away with the Franklin St. building and the High St. School is being replaced with a one-story modern structure.

Walnut St. Elementary will be used another year until the high school is completed. In 1966, Walnut students will use the S. Court St. building which currently houses seventh graders. The latter will move into the old high school building.

"RIGHT ON SCHEDULE" seems to be the key phrase when speaking of the building program, according to Superintendent Fritz Jacobs and construction officials.

The Atwater building is taking on four new classrooms this fall, making a total of 17, in addition to cafeteria facilities, an office, restrooms, multi-purpose room and the like. The addition is nearly completed. Workers are plastering ceilings this week and beginning outside cleanup of the site.

At Mound St., the same situation prevails. The addition of 11 new classrooms is under roof and work is progressing at a steady pace on the interior.

The addition is being made to the four-classroom Mound St. building which will "do away with the old Franklin building." The new facility will include a kitchen and multi-purpose room, teacher's room and restrooms. Later this fall, the Franklin St. building will be demolished and the area will be turned into more playground for kindergarten through grade six.

An entirely new building is under construction at High St. Demolition of the old building began June 4, the last day of school. The new six-classroom building is to be ready for occupancy in September. A multi-purpose room, serving kitchen, restroom and other facilities are included.

The biggest undertaking in the building program, a new high school, is also "progressing on schedule." Slated for completion in September of next year, the new building will be "one of the finest education plants in the whole state," both Superintendent Jacobs and contractors agree.

The present high school building is also getting some attention this summer. Painting projects are being carried out in corridors, several classrooms and the cafeteria. The gymnasium is being painted for the first time since its completion in 1954.

FLUORESCENT lighting fixtures from the Franklin and High St. buildings are being used to replace some of the obsolete lighting in the high school building.

The entire building program is being accomplished with funds derived from a bond issue passed in May of 1964 by voters of the Circleville City School District.

State Solon Is Target of Bomb Threat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The FBI has been notified of a reported telephone bomb threat to the home of a state senator from Belmont County but will not intervene unless there is violation of a federal law, the agency says.

The wife of Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, St. Clairsville Democrat reported receiving the threat from an anonymous caller about noon Monday while the senator was not home.

He said the caller inquired whether the couple had children and when she said they have three, said, "either there is a bomb in your car or there will be."

Sargus returned home a short time later, he said, adding "my wife was in tears." He expressed belief the call came from a crank but said he decided as a precautionary measure to bring his family to Columbus with him later in the afternoon.

Sargus has sponsored several controversial pieces of legislation this year, including measures to tighten strip mine controls and prevent monopolistic practices in the dairy industry, but he declined to speculate on whether his legislative work may have prompted the call.

Dear Abby: Come Off It, Mother!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a 21-year-old daughter of whom I've always been so very proud, until now. My bubble has burst. I went to work in an office to send her to college. She was an honor student and married the week after she graduated from college. She had planned to teach school in the fall. Now she's told us she is pregnant and can't teach. Her doctor told her the baby is due exactly nine months and ten days after her wedding date! I can hardly stand to look at her, Abby. I know that everyone will laugh and count the time. If that baby comes early, I will die of shame. I haven't been able to eat or sleep properly since I've known about it.

BOY, was I a beauty with my fallow complexion, dark shadows underneath my eyes, yellow teeth, pale lips and invisible eyelashes! Unfortunately, this was the real me. He changed his mind in a hurry. And now he refuses to be seen with me unless I "put my face on."

PLAIN JANE

DEAR ABBY: Who is worse, a married woman who runs around with a single man? Or a single woman who runs with a married man? I am a single woman who is keeping company with a married man. I have no family ties or obligations. This man's marriage has been dead for many years and everybody in town knows it. A friend of mine is married and is running around with a single man. She lies to her husband and pretends to be happily married. She is raising children and the whole bit. Now, WHO do you think is worse?

Lima Hospital Fixup Plans Are Pushed

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The superintendent of Lima State Hospital says the list of recommendations by State Mental Hygiene and Correction Director Martin Janis for improving the troubled institution would take three to five years to accomplish.

"We do hope that some of these recommendations we have been nibbling way to get for for past years will come to pass," said Supt. J. O. Crist Monday.

Janis made the recommendations last weekend in a report to Gov. James A. Rhodes. They came in response to published reports calling conditions at the hospital deplorable. The stories, by reporter Donald Leon Bartlett of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, also told of beatings inflicted on patients by attendants.

The improvements recommended by Janis include special incentive pay for staff physician an in-training program to provide trained psychiatrists for treatment of psychopaths and a building program.

The recommendations would cost about $87 million to implement.

Ethel Merman Calls Halt To Broadway Appearances

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ethel Merman, once Broadway's queen, says she is through forever with the Big Street.

No show, no matter how good, could entice her, she adds with finality.

"I had a chance to do 'Hello, Dolly' and turned that down. That should prove something."

"I want to be free to travel when I please, work when I please and live as I please. I've had those years of making those seven days a week trips between theater and apartment and back again."

She will continue to make her home in her New York apartment.

Ethel is not quitting show business—just the long-run Broadway shows. In 30 years, from "Girl Crazy" to "Gypsy," she never had a show that ran less than seven months.

Longest running was "Annie Get Your Gun" at 34 months.

Her all-time favorite was "Gypsy."

She'll continue movies and television and will get the stage ham out of her system with short engagements in theater-in-the-round.

Her first musical-in-the-round, "Call Me Madam," opens tonight at the nearby Valley Music Theater in Woodland Hills. In the cast with her will be the two male stars who did the show on Broadway with her 13 years ago — Richard Eastham and Russell Nype.

An added starter will be Ethel Jr., now Ethel Six Geary. It's the first time mother and daughter have ever appeared together.

She may do "Madam" again to open a new theater in Houston, owned by the same people who own Valley Music Theater — among them Bob Hope and Art Linkletter, two fellows who will never need any benefits.

Dear Abby: Come Off It, Mother!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a 21-year-old daughter of whom I've always been so very proud, until now. My bubble has burst. I went to work in an office to send her to college. She was an honor student and married the week after she graduated from college. She had planned to teach school in the fall. Now she's told us she is pregnant and can't teach. Her doctor told her the baby is due exactly nine months and ten days after her wedding date! I can hardly stand to look at her, Abby. I know that everyone will laugh and count the time. If that baby comes early, I will die of shame. I haven't been able to eat or sleep properly since I've known about it.

SAD MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER. So what if the baby DOES come early? Your daughter is married and your melodramatic moaning about "shame" is unwarranted, unnecessary and brutally selfish. Retire to the wings, Mom. Your daughter has the stage.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "DEPRESSED," the 22-year-old woman who argued with her boy friend about her make-up. I am 20 and I wore quite a lot of make-up until two years ago. My boy friend asked me to take my make-up off as he thought it cheapened me. So, because I wanted to please him, I washed my face, and now I would never be bothered with make-up again. I am so glad I washed my face. I can see things a lot more clearly now.

KATHY
DEAR ABBY: Years ago I had a boy friend who was always harping on how men preferred girls with the "natural" look to those who wore make-up. Well, I got sick of hearing it, so one night I appeared for a date without one speck of make-up on.

Boy, was I a beauty with my sallow complexion, dark shadows underneath my eyes, yellow teeth, pale lips and invisible eyelashes! Unfortunately, this was the real me. He changed his mind in a hurry. And now he refuses to be seen with me unless I "put my face on."

PLAIN JANE

DEAR ABBY: Who is worse, a married woman who runs around with a single man? Or a single woman who runs with a married man? I am a single woman who is keeping company with a married man. Milwaukee '9' Chalks First Shutout of '65

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ken Johnson recorded Milwaukee's first shutout of the season Monday night as the Braves whipped the New York Mets 6-0 for their seventh straight victory and moved into third place in the National League.

The 32-year-old right-hander has been a different person since Houston traded him to Milwaukee for outfielder Lee Maye last May 23.

While with the Astros this season, Johnson posted a 3-2 record with a 4.15 earned run average and no complete games in eight starts.

His triumph over the Mets was his fourth straight and gave him a 7-2 record with the Braves. In that time he has compiled a 2.79 ERA, completed five of 12 starts and defeated seven of the other nine teams in the league.

In other NL games Monday, Los Angeles knocked off Houston 8-3, Pittsburgh trimmed Cincinnati 3-1, Philadelphia defeated St. Louis 5-2 and Chicago downed San Francisco 6-2.

In the American League Minnesota beat Los Angeles 5-2, Cleveland blanked Baltimore 5-0, Kansas City stopped Chicago 6-3, Boston defeated New York 3-1 and Washington crushed Detroit 8-0.

Johnson was supported in his seven-hitter by four home runs — Ed Mathews' 20th, Hank Aaron's 18th, Joe Torre's 18th and Felipe Alou's 15th. The defeat was the Mets' ninth straight and halted their nine-game Monday winning streak. They hadn't lost on a Monday since opening day.

Don Drysdale scattered nine hits, bringing his record to 15-8 while also collecting a run-scoring single and a double. Los Angeles snapped a 3-3 tie with a five-run outburst in the sixth inning, Lou Johnson scoring the first run on a wild pitch off throw by Houston starter Don Nottebart.

Vernon Law stopped Cincinnati on four hits, and six Pirates each rapped two hits. Donn Clendenon's fourth-inning home run broke a 1-1 deadlock, and Pittsburgh added a run in the eighth on consecutive singles by Roberto Clemente, Clendenon and Bill Mazeroski.

Philadelphia downed St. Louis as Chris Short scattered seven hits for his 11th victory against seven losses. Dick Stuart and Alex Johnson each knocked in two Phillies runs.

Chicago's Dick Ellsworth also won his 11th game — he has lost five — after holding San Fran-

Browns To Cut Roster by Dozen

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Browns' Coach Blanton Collier plans to cut up to a dozen players before the Aug. 6 football game against the College All Stars in Chicago.

"We should be a couple of players above or below 50," Collier said Monday at the National Football League cham-

The Browns now are carrying 61 players, including Walter Johnson, defensive tackle, and Jim Garcia, defensive end, who are with the All Stars now.

Jewelers Hold Babe Ruth Lead

L. M. Butch Jewelers shut out Lindsey Bakery, 4-0, last night to retain their lead in the Babe Ruth League. Logan Elm and Du Pont battled to a 12-12 deadlock in a game called because of darkness.

Butch owns a 10-2 slate to hold first place. Kiwanis is close second, boasting eight wins in 11 starts.

Jeff Steele hurled for Butch and allowed four hits, all singles, as he fanned 10.

Don Cordle took the mound loss for Lindsey as he went the distance. He struck out 15 batters while scattering four hits.

STEVE DADE, Steele, George Hill and Rod Sines tagged the Butch bingles. The Bakers' hits came from the bats of Bob Wallis, Cordle, Dave Justice and Larry Downing.

The Du Pont-Logan Elm tilt will be rescheduled and played on a later date, starting from the sixth inning.

The Chemicalmen tallied 11 runs in the first two frames with the help of four errors. LE caught on in the second and scored in every frame but the last. Two in the second, five in the third, three in the fourth, and two in the sixth put the LE nine in front, 12-11. But Du Pont scored in the last frame to deadlock the game.

Du Pont committed 10 errors in the game.

Steve Swank hurled for Logan Elm. He went the distance and allowed nine hits.

Terry Martin started for Du Pont and was relieved by Frank Carter in the fourth. Together they gave up seven bingles.

TOM SMITH, Jim Moorehead and Russ Merrin tagged doubles for LE, with Merrin blasting two.

Pat Whaley, Terry Martin, Walter Jenkins and Marion Corne led the Chemicalmen's hitting attack as Whaley socked two doubles. Martin popped a two-sacker and two singles, Jenkins hammered two bingles and Corne rapped a two-bagger.

Legion Unit Rallies for 10-9 Victory

The American Legion came from behind to down Ralston Purina, 10-9, last night in the Majors division of the Little League.

The Chowmen tallied eight runs in the first frame. Danny Zickafosse, starter, was pulled after two-thirds of a frame on the mound when Purina tallied six.

Dave Ogan relieved Zickafosse and finished the game to pick up the win. He walked six and fanned 13.

Jeff Harr went all the way for Purina and issued four walks, fanned four and scattered seven hits.

THE LEGION was trailing 9-5 in the last half of the sixth when Dave Skaggs and Mike Chelikowsky walked. Carlton Good reached first on an error and Randy Sprout, Mike Hamrick and Dave Ogan each blasted doubles to score five runs and win.

Mike Carter slashed the only Purina extra baser, a three bagger.

Cincy Men Golfers Face Rugged Test

CINCINNATI (AP) — There may be some very red faces this weekend among the Greater Cincinnati area men golf professionals.

The Ladies Professional Golf Association will make Cincinnati a part of call on its tour and for the first 36 holes of the girls' regular $10,000 54-hole tournament the competition will include a mixed pair low ball battle with the ladies playing with—and against—the men.

There will be an extra $5,500 at stake in that phase of the tournament but pity the poor male pro at his home club next female partner had to do all the low scoring.

1st National Downs Second By 18-2 Count

The First National Bank rode a 23-hit attack to an 18-2 win yesterday over Second National Bank in the Little League Minors.

The win gives the First a 5-3 league record. The Second has won three and lost five.

The winners wasted little time in piling up a lead. They scored 10 runs in the top half of the first inning.

They added one in the second, four in the third, one in the fourth and two more in the sixth. The losers could score only in the first and the last innings.

TERRY Boltenhouse was the winning pitcher. He worked the entire game, scattering five hits and walking two.

Boltenhouse also supplied the power for the First, blasting five hits in five trips to the plate.

Chris Carter hit three times in three trips. He cracked a triple, a double and a single.

Walter Huff hit four singles, Dave Truex a double and a single, Bob York four singles, John Payne two singles and Tom Shea a single and a double.

The losing pitcher was Kirk Brown. He was relieved by Joe Reeser in the fourth inning. For the losers Larry McFarland and Reeser had two hits each.

Illnesses Taking Toll With Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frank Robinson took his place in the lineup Monday night and got a hit, but the illness and injury-plagued Cincinnati Reds still suffered a 3-1 defeat at the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The slugging outfielder has been undergoing treatment for a viral condition and Cincinnati fans were rocked by reports he might be out for the season with mononucleosis.

Robinson himself said he had been surprised by the headlines. "I mentioned it casually," he said, "and expected to see maybe a line or two in the paper. When I finally got hold of a paper it was in the headlines."

"Well, I had what you had, too, but when I had it they called it a slump," remarked John Edwards, the Reds' catcher, and other teammates had similar things to say. Robinson has been off his hitting pace for sometime.

But Robinson's name is only one on the Reds' casualty list which also includes pitchers Jim Maloney and Gerry Arrigo, first baseman Gordon Coleman and catcher Don Pavletich.

Maloney strained a muscle in his pitching arm Sunday and Arrigo is also suffering from a virus. Coleman pulled a muscle in his right side while batting in Sunday's doubleheader.

Pavletich also is recovering from a pulled muscle and has not seen any action since July 10.

Jim Taylor of the Green Bay Packers scored 12 touchdowns rushing last season and now has 73 for his career. He is second scoring via rushing to Cleveland's Jim Brown who has 89 rushing touchdowns.

Circleville Lumber, K of C Win Mosquito League Games

Circleville Lumber topped Pickaway Dairy, 13-7, and Knights of Columbus won over Mac's Goodyear, 14-11, yesterday in the Mosquito League.

The Lumbermen have a 7-1 record in Mosquito League play. Pickaway Dairy has won three and lost five. The K of C unit owns a 6-2 mark and Mac's has two wins and six losses.

Mike Gillian pitched for the winning Lumbermen, fanning 13, walking nine and allowing eight hits.

James Sprout pitched for the Dairy unit. He struck out seven, walked one and allowed 15 hits.

Giants Sign Spahn, Fired By Mets '9'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Manager Herman Franks looks to the 44-year-old arm of Warren Spahn to give his San Francisco Giants a winning boost in the National League baseball race.

Franks, freshman pilot who last Saturday was awarded a new contract through 1966, went to bat to get the veteran left-hander who was cut loose by the New York Mets a week ago. At that time some Giants officials seemed dubious.

"I just have a feeling he'll be a tremendous help for us," the manager declared after the Giants announced they had reached a salary agreement with Spahn and that the pitcher will report Wednesday.

In the twilight of his great major league career, Spahn says he still is in excellent physical shape and his arm feels good, adding, "I think I can help the Giants win the pennant. I am confident I can still pitch nine innings, but I'm ready to do anything the manager wants me to."

Franks told newsmen, "I just may start him. I just don't know yet how he'll be used."

Spahn's 360 games won are the most for any left-hander in the major leagues.

Terms of the Spahn contract, scheduled to be signed on his arrival, weren't divulged. Yet it's believed he won't suffer much of a cut from the reported $73,500 for which he signed with the Mets this year.

Nicklaus Atop Earnings List

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus' second-place finish and $12,000 in the Canadian Open Sunday boosted his over-all golf earnings for the year to $80,488. Of that, $69,700 was in official PGA tournaments.

Nicklaus has won two and placed in the first five 11 times in 14 tournaments. Tony Lema, who has participated in 20 tournaments this year, was runner-up with $56,605 in official events and $63,384 over-all.

Australian Bruce Devlin was third with $55,595 official and $58,859 over-all.

Gary Player and Kel Nagle not only played off for the U.S. Open title but they also were head-to-head in the third round when Player shot a 71 and Nagle a 72. In the playoff, Player had 71, Nagle 74.

Milwaukee '9' Chalks First Shutout of '65

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ken Johnson recorded Milwaukee's first shutout of the season Monday night as the Braves whipped the New York Mets 6-0 for their seventh straight victory and moved into third place in the National League.

The 32-year-old right-hander has been a different person since Houston traded him to Milwaukee for outfielder Lee Maye last May 23.

While with the Astros this season, Johnson posted a 3-2 record with a 4.15 earned run average and no complete games in eight starts.

His triumph over the Mets was his fourth straight and gave him a 7-2 record with the Braves. In that time he has compiled a 2.79 ERA, completed five of 12 starts and defeated seven of the other nine teams in the league.

In other NL games Monday, Los Angeles knocked out Houston 8-3, Pittsburgh trimmed Cincinnati 3-1, Philadelphia defeated St. Louis 5-2 and Chicago downed San Francisco 6-2.

In the American League Minnesota beat Los Angeles 5-2, Cleveland blanked Baltimore 5-0, Kansas City stopped Chicago 6-3, Boston defeated New York 3-1 and Washington crushed Detroit 8-0.

Johnson was supported in his seven-hitter by four home runs — Ed Matthews' 20th, Hank Aaron's 18th, Joe Torre's 18th and Felipe Alou's 15th. The defeat was the Mets' ninth straight and halted their nine-game Monday winning streak. They hadn't lost on a Monday since opening day.

Don Drysdale scattered nine hits, bringing his record to 15-8 while also collecting a run-scoring single and a double. Los Angeles snapped a 3-3 tie with a five-run outburst in the sixth inning. Lou Johnson scoring the first run on a wild pitchoff throw by Houston starter Don Nottebart.

Vernon Law stopped Cincinnati on four hits, and six Pirates each rapped two hits. Donn Clendenon's fourth-inning home run broke a 1-1 deadlock, and Pittsburgh added a run in the eighth on consecutive singles by Roberto Clemente, Clendenon and Bill Mazeroski.

Philadelphia downed St. Louis as Chris Short scattered seven hits for his 11th victory against seven losses. Dick Stuart and Alex Johnson each knocked in two Phillie runs.

Chicago's Dick Ellsworth also won his 11th game — he has lost five — after holding San Fran-

Browns To Cut Roster by Dozen

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Browns' Coach Blanton Collier plans to cut up to a dozen players before the Aug. 6 football game against the College All Stars in Chicago.

"We should be a couple of players above or below 50," Collier said Monday at the National Football League chamions' training camp. The Browns now are carrying 61 players, including Walter Johnson, defensive tackle, and Jim Garcia, defensive end, who are with the All Stars now.

Ernie Green, regular left halfback, who pulled a hamstring muscle, will take it easy for about four days.

Monday night, Whitfield was on the bench, and first-sacker Hinton rapped a two-run homer over the left center field fence.

The first-inning homer capped a three-run attack and gave Lee Stange all the runs he needed as he continued to exercise his special hex over the Baltimore Orioles, shutting them out on four hits for a 5-0 victory.

It was the second time this season Stange has defeated the Orioles, and ran his career record over them to 9-2.

Baltimore skipper Hank Bauer said he can't understand it. "Twenty-four straight innings against him we haven't scored. Maybe they'll trade that son-of-a-gun to me this winter," he added.

The Stinger didn't understand it either. "I'm just lucky, I guess," said Stange. "Both games I started against them this year we jumped off to leads in the first inning.

Jewelers Hold Babe Ruth Lead

L. M. Butch Jewelers shut out Lindsey Bakery, 4-0, last night to retain their lead in the Babe Ruth League. Logan Elm and Du Pont battled to a 12-12 deadlock in a game called because of darkness.

Butch owns a 10-2 slate to hold first place. Kiwanis is close second, boasting eight wins in 11 starts.

Jeff Steele hurled for Butch and allowed four hits, all singles, as he fanned 10.

Don Cordle took the mound loss for Lindsey as he went the distance. He struck out 15 batters while scattering four hits.

STEVE DADE, Steele, George Hill and Rod Sines tagged the Butch bingles. The Bakers' hits came from the bats of Bob Walisa, Cordle, Dave Justice and Larry Downing.

The Du Pont-Logan Elm tilt will be rescheduled and played on a later date, starting from the sixth inning.

The Chemicalmen tallied 11 runs in the first two frames with the help of four errors. LE caught on in the second and scored in every frame but the last. Two in the second, five in the third, three in the fourth, and two in the sixth put the LE nine in front, 12-11. But Du Pont scored in the last frame to deadlock the game.

Du Pont committed 10 errors in the game.

Steve Swank hurled for Logan Elm. He went the distance and allowed nine hits.

Terry Martin started for Du Pont and was relieved by Frank Carter in the fourth. Together they gave up seven bingles.

TOM SMITH, Jim Moorehead and Russ Merrin tagged doubles for LE, with Merrin blasting two.

Pat Whaley, Terry Martin, Walter Jenkins and Marion Corne led the Chemicalmen's hitting attack as Whaley socked two doubles. Martin popped a two-sacker and two singles, Jenkins hammered two bingles and Corne rapped a two-bagger.

Legion Unit Rallies for 10-9 Victory

The American Legion came from behind to down Ralston Purina, 10-9, last night in the Majors division of the Little League.

The Chowmen tallied eight runs in the first frame. Danny Zickafosse, starter, was pulled after two-thirds of a frame on the mound when Purina tallied six.

Dave Ogan relieved Zickafosse and finished the game to pick up the win. He walked six and fanned 13.

Jeff Harr went all the way for Purina and issued four walks, fanned four and scattered seven hits.

THE LEGION was trailing 9-5 in the last half of the sixth when Dave Skaggs and Mike Chelikowsky walked. Carlton Good reached first on an error and Randy Sprout, Mike Hamrick and Dave Ogan each blasted doubles to score five runs and win.

Mike Carter slashed the only Purina extra baser, a three bagger.

Cincy Men Golfers Face Rugged Test

CINCINNATI (AP) — There may be some very red faces this weekend among the Greater Cincinnati area men golf professionals.

The Ladies Professional Golf Association will make Cincinnati a part of call on its tour and for the first 36 holes of the girls' regular $10,000 54-hole tournament the competition will include a mixed pair low ball battle with the ladies playing with—and against—the men.

There will be an extra $5,500 at stake in that phase of the tournament but pity the poor male pro at his home club next female partner had to do all the low scoring.

Relay Team Wins First at Swim Meet

Four local girls, members of an 80-yard medley relay team, won a first place in the swim meet at Delaware last week.

Members of the team, for girls 10 years of age and under, were Janet Helwagen, Nancy Rhoads, Jane Guenther and Sarah Kutler.

Chuck Hinton, infielder - outfielder with the Cleveland Indians, is a native of Rocky Mount, N.C.

1st National Downs Second By 18-2 Count

The First National Bank rode a 23-hit attack to an 18-2 win yesterday over Little League Minors.

The win gives the First a 5-3 league record. The Second has won three and lost five.

The winners wasted little time in piling up a lead. They scored 10 runs in the top half of the first inning.

They added one in the second, four in the third, one in the fourth and two more in the sixth. The losers could score only in the first and the last innings.

TERRY Boltenehouse was the winning pitcher. He worked the entire game, scattering five hits and walking two.

Boltenehouse also supplied the power for the First, blasting five hits in five trips to the plate.

Chris Carter hit three times in three trips. He cracked a triple, a double and a single.

Walter Huff hit four singles and Truex a double and a single. Bob York four singles, John Payne two singles and Tom Shea a single and a double.

The losing pitcher was Kirk Brown. He was relieved by Joe Reeser in the fourth inning. For the losers Larry McFarland and Reeser had two hits each.

Illnesses Taking Toll With Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frank Robinson took his place in the lineup Monday night and got a hit, but the illness and injury-plagued Cincinnati Reds still suffered a 3-1 defeat at the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The slugging outfielder has been undergoing treatment for a viral condition and Cincinnati fans were rocked by reports he might be out for the season with mononucleosis.

Robinson himself said he had been surprised by the headlines. "I mentioned it casually," he said, "and expected to see maybe a line or two in the paper. When I finally got hold of a paper it was in the headlines."

"Well, I had what you had, too, but when I had it they called it a slump, remarked John Edwards, the Reds' catcher, and other teammates had similar things to say. Robinson has been off his hitting pace for sometime.

Ebenhack Wins 3 At Scioto Downs

Emmett Ebenhack moved into the spotlight last night at Scioto Downs.

The veteran Pickaway County harness horse trainer and driver won three races, finished second and third in five starts.

In the second race, Ebenhack was reining his own Dick Frisco. The 3-year-old son of Joybelle and Frisco-way paced the mile in 2:08.4-5.

The local favorite came back in the fourth race with Countess

Jerri and finished second to Dixie Jean. The time of the mile was 2:06 4-5.

In the fifth race Ebenhack was driving Tailfeather, owned by Harvey Smith and Sally Dillon. The mile was paced in 2:06 and once again he was driving the winner.

IN THE seventh race Abbe Vo showed the field he could still pace a creditable mile.

"The old man," as Ebenhack affectionately refers to his 13-year-old pacer, won in 2:05 1-5.

In the last race, the local horseman was driving Mighty Jackson and finished third to cap his evening's performance.

By GARY SMITH
Producer of "Hullabaloo"
(For Cynthia Lowry)

NEW YORK (AP) — The stage and the cages are empty now, but only temporarily, for come September everything will be back to normal. Well, let us say as normal as things could be on a show such as "Hullabaloo."

When we are working, inside the studio you find yourself in a whole new world, one you may or may not have known existed.

Having produced such shows as "The Judy Garland Show" and "Telephone Hour," I wasn't totally sure that I would be "ready to Freddy" and "do the Mouse all over the house."

After all, what would my kids say! After a season in this new world of "Hullabaloo," on which I look back with great pride, I can sit back and catch my breath while a summer of re-runs rolls by. I often find myself reflecting on those many weeks and the worthy suggestions and amusing incidents that went along with them.

Often the performers themselves had a great deal to do with the origination of a production idea for the show. It was Leslie Uggams who, just before taping, asked if she might dance in one of the cages usually occupied by our "go-go girls." We agreed and from that time on we instituted an "open cage" policy. Thus, any guest who so desired, could dance up a storm. Dionne Warwick and Soupy Sales did.

Another performer responsible for a production idea is Frankie Avalon. He and our choreographer David Winters, originated the dance craze "the Freddy." It happened during a rehearsal when Frankie was singing with Freddie and the Dreamers and suggested they make up a dance. A month later kids around the country were Freddying.

The letters we receive on "Hullabaloo" are for the most part encouraging. I'd say 90 per cent are in favor and 10 per cent opposed.

Kochheiser Defeated By VFW in 16-3 Bout

VFW moved into a half-game lead in the Pony League yesterday by defeating Kochheiser Hardware, 16-3.

Gary Boltenhouse was the winning pitcher. He walked three, fanned eight and scattered five hits.

Craters on Moon Confuse Youngster

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The summer class at suburban Kettering's Orchard Park School got into a discussion of outer space. One first grader volunteered this information to teacher Mary Ann Nelter:

"There are critters on the moon."

Pressed further, the youngster elaborated: "Critters. You know, holes."

Nuxhall (Kim) Out For Rest of Season

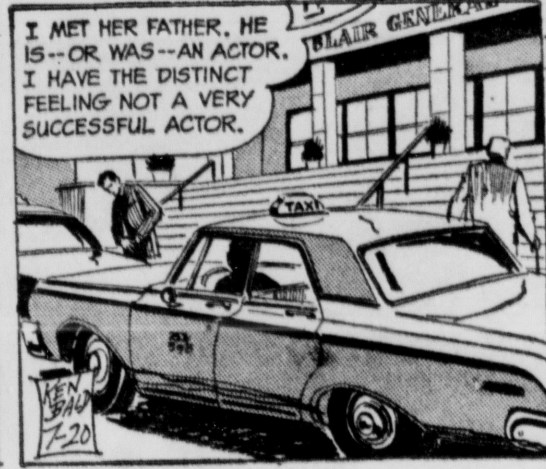

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Nuxhall will be out of the baseball lineup for the rest of the season with a fractured left forearm.

Hold it, Cincinnati Reds fans. Don't get too worked up.

The Nuxhall who will be out for the season is 10-year-old Kim Nuxhall, son of Joe Nuxhall the veteran Cincinnati pitcher.

Kim suffered his injury Sunday when he fell chasing a line drive in practice. He says he "plays everything" for the Ohio Gravel Co. Little League team.

K of P Awards Pin Trophy To DeLong

Dale DeLong of 590 Ridgewood Drive was the recipient of a handsome trophy last night in recognition of his outstanding performance in the recent Knights of Pythias Ohio State Bowling Tournament.

DeLong earned first place in the all-events category at the 18th annual K of P pin tourney. The tournament was conducted in April at Springfield.

The first place trophy was awarded during last night's regular meeting of the local Philos Lodge No. 64.

Making the presentation was William F. Evans of Springfield. He is an officer in the Ohio State K of P Bowling Tournament.

DeLong earned the trophy by spilling 1,928 pins in the tournament's all-events division. He finished with an average of 214 for the nine games bowled.

Business Briefs

Lowell's Beauty Salon, 129 1/2 W. Main St., is now under the management of Lucy Welch. Name of the firm has been changed to Lucy's Beauty Salon and four operators will be on duty throughout the business week.

Owens - Illinois, Inc., has announced it is expanding its fibre can manufacturing operations into the Southwest and the Pacific Coast through the purchase of existing plants in Ponca City, Okla., and Richmond, Calif.

Purchase of the two plants from the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation will substantially increase Owens - Illinois' existing capacity for producing fibre cans. Owens - Illinois, a leading producer of glass, plastic and forest products, already has fibre can plants at Chicago, Ill., and Orlando, Fla.

"We plan no major changes in policy or personnel at the Ponca City and Richmond plants," said Edwin D. Dodd, Owens-Illinois executive vice president. Dodd is general manager of the O-U Forest Products Division, which will operate the new plants.

Each of the two new plants can produce approximately 40 million fibre cans annually.

The composite fibre can consists of spirally wound layers of kraft paper combined with a foil or plastic inner lining. Ends are made of steel or aluminum. The fibre can is replacing the traditional metal can in packaging a variety of products, including motor oil and citrus concentrate.

Marion Park Entry Road To Be Fixed

The State Highway Department will repair the road leading to the parking lot near the dam at A. W. Marion State Park, according to Cloyce (Pete) Hattery, park manager.

Hattery said the work was scheduled to begin immediately.

According to the park manager, the road had been allowed to fall into a state of disrepair because of a dispute over jurisdiction.

Washington Twp. and Pickaway County officials maintained it was the state's duty to maintain the road, Hattery pointed out. The State Highway Department claimed it was a township road.

THE State Highway Department normally maintains all roads within state parks, Hattery said. Although the road in question is an entrance to the A. W. Marion State Park, it does not fall within the park boundaries.

The work calls for the holes in the road to be filled and for the road to be resurfaced.

"I will be glad when it's completed and so will everybody else", Hattery said.

Northern Ohio Parks Planned

State Approves 2 New Layouts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Northern Ohio will get two new state parks and possibly a third under $61 million worth of capital improvements for recreation scheduled for the next two years by the Natural Resources Department.

The plans were announced Monday.

The new parks will be at Geneva-on-the-Lake in Ashtabula and at West Branch Reservoir, east of Ravenna, in Portage County.

A third park is being considered for the Tinkers Creek area of Cuyahoga, Summit and Portage counties.

Officials have allocated $1.4 million for acquisition of land at Geneva-on-the-Lake, and the first court action to obtain 500 acres of land for the park has begun. It involves 326 acres of lakefront property owned by Geneva Point, Inc., which has rejected the state's offer of $645,000.

Some $1.25 million has been earmarked by the department for land for the West Branch park.

There has been no appropriation for work on the Tinkers Creek park, but if it is decided to go ahead with the park, there is $1.7 million in general land acquisition funds which could be made available.

Other projects scheduled include:

$650,000 worth of improvements to Headlands State Park in Lake County.

$1.3 million in improvements at Punderson State Park in Geauga County.

$2.9 million for land acquisition and improvements at East Harbor State Park.

$1.1 million for land acquisition and improvements at Pyramiding State Park.

$20,000 for land acquisition and development at Portage Lakes State Park.

$850,000 for land acquisition and additional facilities at Mosquito Lake.

$285,000 for new facilities at Findley State Park.

Man Admits Triple Slaying

Common-Law Wife, 2 Tots Strangled

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — A 24-year-old factory worker was to be arraigned today on first-degree murder charges in the strangulation slaying of his common-law wife and two young children.

Assistant Lorain County Prosecutor John B. Otero said early today that Lorne F. Alexander would appear in court on the charge.

Lorain police said Alexander, found hiding Monday night in a friend's apartment in Elyria, admitted the triple slaying after 20 minutes of questioning.

Alexander surrendered quietly to four Elyria policemen, who said they went to the apartment on a tip.

Lorain County Police Inspector Maurice Mumford issued a first-degree murder warrant for Alexander after the three mutilated and decomposed bodies were found Monday morning in a Lorain home.

A Cleveland attorney who went to the home to collect overdue rent discovered the bodies of Alexander's wife, Judith, 24, and Timothy, John, 4, and Kevin, four months. The younger boy's body was stuffed in a suitcase and the other boy's corpse was under a pile of clothing. The woman's body was under a studio couch.

Coroner Paul Kosch said an autopsy showed the three were strangled four or five days ago. He said a scarf was used to kill the woman, an undershirt the older boy, and a rag the infant.

Neighbors said the family moved into the two-story frame house on the West Side around July 1, but hadn't been seen lately.

Authorities said Mrs. Alexander became his common law wife about three years ago. They said he was released last Jan. 27 from the Marion Correctional Institute, where he had served time on a grand larceny conviction.

The dead woman was a native of Elyria. She had worked as a nurse's aid and recently as a barmaid.

K of P Awards Pin Trophy To DeLong

Dale DeLong of 590 Ridgewood Drive was the recipient of a handsome trophy last night in recognition of his outstanding performance in the recent Knights of Pythias Ohio State Bowling Tournament.

DeLong earned first place in the all-events category at the 18th annual K of P pin tourney. The tournament was conducted in April at Springfield.

The first place trophy was awarded during last night's regular meeting of the local Philos Lodge No. 64.

Making the presentation was William F. Evans of Springfield. He is an officer in the Ohio State K of P Bowling Tournament.

FRANK G. HUDSON of Ashville, Ohio K of P grand treasurer, also was present for the special recognition.

DeLong earned the trophy by spilling 1,928 pins in the tournament's all-events division. He finished with an average of 214 for the nine games bowled.

Business Briefs

Lowell's Beauty Salon, 129 1/2 W. Main St., is now under the management of Lucy Welch. Name of the firm has been changed to Lucy's Beauty Salon and four operators will be on duty throughout the business week.

Owens - Illinois, Inc., has announced it is expanding its fibre can manufacturing operations into the Southwest and the Pacific Coast through the purchase of existing plants in Ponca City, Okla., and Richmond, Calif.

Purchase of the two plants from the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation will substantially increase Owens - Illinois' existing capacity for producing fibre cans. Owens - Illinois, a leading producer of glass, plastic and forest products, already has fibre can plants at Chicago, Ill., and Orlando, Fla.

"We plan no major changes in policy or personnel at the Ponca City and Richmond plants," said Edwin D. Dodd, Owens-Illinois executive vice president. Dodd is general manager of the O-U Forest Products Division, which will operate the new plants.

Each of the two new plants can produce approximately 40 million fibre cans annually.

The composite fibre can consists of spirally wound layers of kraft paper combined with a foil or plastic inner lining. Ends are made of steel or aluminum. The fibre can is replacing the traditional metal can in packaging a variety of products, including motor oil and citrus concentrate.

Ex-Butler Aide Named In Findings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor Chester W. Goble today released an audit report returning findings for the recovery of $5,632 against Mrs. Elizabeth A. Haynes, a former clerk in a Butler County court.

Of the total findings, Goble said, $240 consisted of returned or bad accounts or insufficient funds and that the audit showed Mrs. Haynes made no effort to collect. The balance of the finding was in court fees and fines collected but undeposited, Goble added.

The findings cover a period from Dec. 31, 1962 through May 31, 1965. Also named in the finding was the Ohio Casualty Insurance Co. of Hamilton. Mrs. Haynes was covered by $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Haynes formerly was clerk of County Court No. 2 located in Fairfield.

Goble also said the examiners reported that fees and fines totaling $14,897.22 collected by Mrs. Haynes had not been distributed to various political subdivisions.

Van Wert GI Is 'Mayor' of 'Old West' in Berlin Version

BERLIN (AP)—Once four-masters sailed out of Hamburg for the California goldfields.

Now, courtesy of the U.S. Army's Berlin Brigade, the days of the 1849 California gold rush days around Sutter's Fort in old Sacramento Village have come back to a more modern western frontier, Berlin.

A special exhibit shows Sutter's Mill, site of the first California gold discovery in 1848, and rustic buildings of the time—City Hotel, Eagle Theater Chinese pavilion—plus a mock-up of the goldfields where the world's adventurer spanned for their fortune.

The mayor of Sacramento Village is M. Sgt. Carl Voltz, a 6-foot-4 native of Van Wert, Ohio, who has grown a beard for the occasion.

The mayor of Sacramento Village is M. Sgt. Carl Voltz, a 6-foot-4 native of Van Wert, Ohio, who has grown a beard for the occasion.

The festival opens officially

Saturday and ends Aug. 8.

The gold rush setting is the backdrop of the Army's fifth annual Volkfest, a German-American friendship festival.

This year's exhibit has special appeal on three counts. John A. Sutter, the pioneer who founded the Sacramento Valley settlement, was born in Wandern, Baden, Germany, to Swiss parents. The flags of Berlin and California both are emblazoned with a bear. And Berliners, like most Germans, are absolutely wild about the Wild West.

The Berlin copy of the settlement is 90 feet long and 65 feet wide. It contains a museum of California lore and artifacts.

To give the settlement still more authentic flavor, the GI's of the brigade, their dependents and even the West Berlin Mounted Police have been enlisted for costumed roles as villagers.

There are Indians, miners, dance hall girls, gamblers, cowboys, and U.S. cavalrymen, the latter drawn from the ranks of the Berlin police.
